31 Planning Notices

Patricia O'Connor, RIP

The daughters of the late Patricia O'Connor (New Vale) would like to thank everyone who sympathised with us on the loss of our dear mother, those who sent Mass cards, floral tributes, called to the house and who attended her funeral. We are deeply appreciative of the support of all our friends and neighbours. As it would be impossible to thank everyone individually we trust that this acknowledgement would be accepted by all as a token of our appreciation. The Holy sacrifice of Mass will be offered for all your intentions.

Peter Owens, RIP

The Wife and Family of the late Peter Owens would like to Thank all Friends, Neighbours and Family for all the love and support they received at this sad time. Thank You for all the calls, texts, visits, messages and cards. We were overwhelmed and very appreciative. Mass will be offered for your intentions.

Important Message for the Residents of Castle Farm and Castle Farm Woods

Please take care and reduce your speed while driving in the estate. It has been observed that some people are going too fast. A number of pets have been killed recently which has been upsetting. There are a number of children playing in the estate and their safety is paramount.

(This notice was received from a resident of Castle Farm)

Martello Productions

Local drama group Martello Productions are set to embark on the All Ireland One Act competitions. They will perform at six festivals around Ireland in the hopes of getting to the All Ireland Finals in Kilmuckridge, Co. Wexford. Before they do, they are giving their local audience a chance to see their entry, "Notes on Falling Leaves" by Ayub Khan-Din. They are bringing you a night of one act plays. Along with their own production, they have invited the award winning Modelbox Theatre to perform their entry to the competition, "A Frank Exchange" by Nicholas Marsh.

"Notes on Falling Leaves" is written by the same author as "East is East". It is a beautifully written piece about a son coming to terms with his mother's early onset of dementia. It is directed by Orla Malone and stars Colm Kearns and Deirdre Malone.

"A Frank Exchange" is set during the Second World War. It deals with the dilemmas facing secretary Helena Classen, working for the Nazis, under pressure to pass on information to friends in the Resistance and who is also the mother of a handicapped son. It is directed by Kevin Duignan.

The plays will be performed on Friday 12th October at 8pm in The Burton Hall, Rathmichael Parish National School, Stonebridge Road, Shankill.

Tickets cost €10 or €5 with concession (includes tea and coffee) and the ticket line is 086/2633955.

Direct Marketing

Citizens Information

Dealing with Unsolicited Direct Marketing

Many people do not object to receiving unsolicited mail of an advertising or promotional nature through the post. In fact, one may find when registering or applying for some services in Ireland that one is asked would they like to receive promotional mail regarding products or services. For some people however, such mail is "junk mail"; a nuisance that they wish to avoid. The Data Protection Act, 1988 contains a special provision to ensure people who do not wish to receive direct marketing literature - either through the post, over the phone or over the internet - should have their privacy respected. Mail addressed to "the householder", "occupant" or similar is not covered by the Act, however, as it is unlikely to be using personal data.

The right to have ones name removed from a direct marketing database - Under section 2(7) of the Data Protection Act, one has the right to have one's details removed from a direct marketing database. To do this, one should write to the organisation keeping the database and ask it to remove the details. The organisation must comply with the request and write back within 40 days, confirming that the request has been complied with. If the direct marketing organisation keeps the details for direct marketing purposes, and also for some other purpose, then it must stop using the details for direct marketing. However, in this case, the organisation may continue to keep and use one's details for other purpose, provided of course that there is no breach of data protection law involved. The organisation must inform one about the other purposes it is keeping one's details for. A guide to dealing with unsolicited direct marketing is available on the website of the Data Protection Commissioner. Further information regarding the Data Protection Act 1988, and one's rights are available directly from the Data Protection Commissioner as follows: Data Protection Commission, Canal House, Station Road, Portarlington, Co. Laois

Dealing with unwanted telephone sales calls - Sales calls from companies that one has not had any dealings with is called cold calling or direct marketing. One can register one's preference not to get such calls using the National Directory Database (NDD). However, one may still get calls asking one to take part in a survey. The National Directory Database is a list of all telephone numbers contained in public phone books or available through directory enquiries. How to stop sales calls to one's landline - If one has a landline (fixed-line) phone and one does not want direct marketing companies to call one, one should contact the service provider one rents the landline from. If one does not object to getting calls from companies wanting to sell one goods or services, one does not need to do anything. When one contacts one's provider to tell them one does not want to get direct marketing calls, they will make sure that this is recorded in the 'do not call' direct marketing register of the NDD. This should be done within five working days. NOTE - It can take up to 28 days for this information to filter through to marketing companies who make cold calls. Ex-directory phone numbers are automatically included in the 'do not call' direct marketing register. The register only applies to calls that are made in Ireland.

If companies are still cold calling - If one gets a sales call more than 28 days after one's details have been recorded in the 'do not call' direct marketing register of the NDD, or after one has told the company in question not to contact one again, one can make a complaint to the Office of the Data Protection Commissioner (ODPC). It can investigate and prosecute the company, if necessary. If one is, or has recently been, a customer of the company who is calling one or one has indicated that one wishes to get these calls, these rules do not apply. A reputable company should, however, respect one's wishes not to be called.

How to stop sales calls to one's mobile phone - Cold calls to mobile phones are prohibited unless one has consented to getting direct marketing. There is no charge to be recorded in the 'do not call' direct marketing register of the National Directory Database.

How to stop unsolicited email and text messages - Direct marketing emails or text messages that one has not requested from a company of which one is not a customer can become a nuisance. This is sometimes called spam. Under the European Communities (Electronic Communications Networks and Services) (Privacy and Electronic Communications) Regulations 2011, the sending of unsolicited commercial emails can be an offence and an offender can be tried summarily or on indictment.

A company can send one direct marketing emails or text messages if:

- One has given them explicit consent to do so within the last 12 months Or
- They have got one's personal contact details through selling a product or service within the last 12 months and
- They have told one their identity, the purpose for collecting the contact details, anyone who one's data may be shared with and any other information needed to make the processing of one's data fair and
- They are only marketing products and services to one that are similar to that already purchased or subscribed to and
- One was given the opportunity to opt out of marketing by email at the time one's details were collected and at the time of each communication following that (If one doesn't unsubscribe using the cost-free option given to one by the company, they can assume that one wishes to opt in to getting direct marketing for a 12-month period from the date of the most recent marketing email).

A company cannot send one direct marketing emails or text messages in the following circumstances:

- If one has not given one's consent to getting such emails or text messages within the last 12 months in one of the ways described above
- If one cannot tell who the sender is because their identity has been disguised or hidden
- If one is not provided with a valid address to which one can send an opt-out request
- If one has joined a club to which one pays a subscription for text, multimedia or email message services, unless the direct marketing is directly related to a similar product or service to the subscription club of which one is a member

Illegal content - The Child Trafficking and Pornography Act, 1998 outlaws child pornography. Any person found to produce, forward, publish, show or possess child pornography is committing a crime. Hotline.ie was established by the Internet Service Providers Association of Ireland to deal with instances of child pornography or other illegal material that Irish internet users come across either on the internet or in an email. This website is connected to similar hotlines in other countries and so can work across borders.

Tips for protecting ones-self from direct marketing by email - When one is entering competitions, promotions or surveys and are asked to give contact details, read the conditions of entry carefully and make sure one understands how one's contact details may be used. If the conditions state that one's details may be used for marketing, or passed onto third parties to use for marketing, it is up to ones-self to judge whether entering the competition is worth it. If one does decide to supply one's contact details, one can always change one's mind at a later date and tell the organisation that one does not want to receive marketing. However, at that point, the organisation may have already passed one's details to third parties. Be careful when writing one's personal contact details on a public space such as a website forum, social media page or one's own website. Marketers may be able to see this information without one knowing and use one's details without one's consent. It is not advised to respond to an email address to opt-out of a list unless the address is from a recognised organisation. Responding to a web site that supposedly lets one remove ones-self from the list is also not advised. This is because once one accesses the web site or opt out of the email ones details are logged. One could also you be exposed to illegal content. If one get a lot of unsolicited commercial or offensive emails one can filter these using ones email spam settings. SHANKILL TENNIS CLUB

CAPTAIN'S DAY

A great day was had by all at this year's Captain's Day, which took place on the sunny Saturday of the 25th of August. Run by the ladies captains Regina and Veronica, and the new men's captains Declan and Bobby, the day was a roaring success with plenty of tennis, ice cream, spot prizes and fun.

We had 42 players ready to go, who were divided into six teams. Everyone played six matches each which each lasted for around 25 minutes. There was plenty of tennis throughout the day, but the players were also treated to a sit-down lunch, ice-cream in the afternoon and dinner in the evening with spot prizes and fun. The Blue Team took the top spot, with the Pink Team coming runners-up. Well done to everyone who took part, we look forward to the same fun next year!

JUNIOR NEWS

For every parent, the beginning of September means that the kids are back to school. It also means, in Shankill Tennis Club, that junior coaching is back! Last month, we welcomed back returning juniors as well as some new faces. We encourage any juniors thinking of trying out tennis to get in contact with us – we always love to see new faces around the club, and we have a great bunch of juniors ready to welcome any newcomers.

In other junior news, big congratulations are in order for 8-year-old Shankill junior, Felix Burke, who has been selected for the Ireland U10 National Squad. We are very proud and can't wait to see you in action in the squad in the future!

KINDER TOURNAMENT

This year, for the first time, the Kinder Tournament came to Ireland and Shankill Tennis Club was one of the two clubs to host this weekend junior tournament. The Kinder Tournament is a European tournament held all over Europe with finals being held in France. It caters for U10s, U12s and U14s who have ranking points less than 150, so it gives kids a chance to enter a fun tournament without meeting category 1 rankings!

The weekend was a huge success, with over 50 kids from all over Dublin competing in several matches each throughout the weekend. Shankill had 18 entrants, and several of them reached the finals in their categories. Hopefully we will get to host next year if the opportunity arises, as it was a lovely tournament enjoyed by all.

FLOODLIGHT LEAGUE

October is the month for the Floodlight league, and again this year we have a great number of teams competing on behalf of Shankill Tennis Club. With players not knowing if they will be playing singles or doubles until they arrive on the night, each Tuesday evening match is always an interesting surprise, with the players welcoming whatever challenge they are presented with on the night. Best of luck to all our teams competing!

community games
endless possibilities

The National Community Games Finals took place in Limerick University during August. We were very proud of our local Shankill competitors who formed part of the Dublin team taking part in All Ireland Finals. Anna Simpson showed great skill and determination scoring very well in the long puck competition. Also watch out for Anna in the Aldi ad as she was chosen as the Dublin face of the games.

James Foot had a really good run in the 600m heat and qualified for the finals on Sunday finishing 6th overall. Both of these are super results when we consider that both Anna and James will be young enough to compete in the same age category next year.

And so, our competitions for 2018 are at a close. We will have a celebration for all those involved in 2018 on Sun 4th Nov 2018 at 11.30am in St. Anne's Resource Centre. This year we took part in art, badminton, handwriting, talent, mini rugby, gaelic football, long puck and athletics. We will begin planning for 2019 with a meeting on Thursday 8th November at 8pm in St. Anne's Resource Centre. If you are interested in building on the above or indeed taking part in any of the many activities within community games please attend the meeting on 8th Nov or email shankillcommunitygames@gmail.com

YOUR COMMUNITY - - - YOUR GAA CLUB

The visit to Passage West

Our under 8 and under 10 girls teams were invited to compete in the Passage West Ladies Blitz held in early September. The annual event is a celebration of the importance of team sport for girls in this age group and drew teams from all over Ireland to compete in a weekend of blitz games. In wet and windy conditions our two teams performed amazingly and were very successful in all of the matches in which they played. As the first teams to represent our club at a National Blitz the girls behaviour both on and off the field of play was fantastic and brought great pride to our club.

On behalf of everyone at Shankill GAA Club we wish to thank the girls, their parents and coaches for a wonderful weekend away, well done to all.

Juvenile Academy

It was brilliant to see so many new faces at our Academy and there is still plenty of room for more boys and girls. At this expensive time of year for families when children are returning to school, remember it only costs €2 per child payable each week to attend the Academy. There is no annual subscription. All equipment is provided free of charge and qualified coaches are always in attendance. The is no streaming, grading or team selection as each child develops new skills at their own pace.

With the GAA Go Games formula all children are involved every week, learning new skills while having fun with their friends and no one is left sitting on the side line. Please come along any Saturday morning at 10.00am to Stonebridge Road and give the Academy a try.

Where are all the boys?

That's a very good question indeed. In point of fact this year will be fielding boys teams in both Football and Hurling at every age group from under 12 years down to under 8 years. The teams are back in training as we wait for the new season to kick off. Competitive league matches will soon come thick and fast. If your son would like to join any of these age groups call to our home ground in Stonebridge Road any Saturday morning or contact any club member. A full list of people to contact can be found on our club web page. You will be very welcome.

Chase the Ace Draw

At the time of going to press the Jackpot stands at a whopping €1050. Tickets are €2 each or 3 for €5 and are available from committee members or from the staff in Brady's pub.

A message from Mary Mitchell O'Connor TD

Dear Constituents,

The internet is a wonder of technology that has brought all kinds of resources, opportunities and connections into our lives. But as with all positive things, there are negatives associated with the internet too, phishing scams, cyberbullying, impersonation/ catfishing etc. We need to protect ourselves, and our children in this internet world.

What can you do to stay safe on the Internet?

- Ensure that your anti-virus software is up to date. There is a wide range of free anti-virus software available as well as paid versions with extra features.
- Accept updates for operating systems, these often contain patches and fixes for security breaches and hacks.
- Protect your passwords. It is not advised that you use the same password across various email/social media/online shopping etc accounts.
- Don't open attachments or links in emails from unknown sources.
- Deactivate cameras on laptops and pcs unless actively using.
- Turn off your Bluetooth function and avoid using untrustworthy Wi-Fi on tablets and mobile phones. You have little or no protection for data sent or received by your device as it could be intercepted. Some devices automatically connect to and remember Wi-Fi areas. Turn off these applications on your device and only connect to Wi-Fi you know and trust.
- Burglars search social media for opportunities to plan crimes. Householders need to be especially wary during holiday times and in the run up to Christmas. Think before you post information that indicates your home may be empty.

What is Phishing and how do I protect myself?

Phishing is defined as "an attempt to trick someone into giving information over the internet or by email that would allow someone else to take money from them". This is usually by sending an email that masquerades as an official email that requests you enter bank details, credit/debit card information or reveal passwords or PIN numbers. In Ireland, it is common to get emails masquerading as being from Revenue, utility companies or financial institutions.

The Banking and Payments Federation of Ireland has great advice re phishing:

- Anti-phishing toolbars are included in most web browsers. Ensure that you use the most up-to-date version.
- Ensure that your anti-virus software is kept up to date.
- Never respond to any unsolicited emails or phone calls that request personal, financial or security information.
- Never visit a website from a link provided in an email and then enter your personal details because this website could be a fake website.
- Ensure that websites on which you use confidential information have a secure connection. The http: should change to https:// when a site is secured.
- Look out for the padlock in the browser window, which shows the connection is secured.
- Heed the messages that appear in the browser alerting you to possible attacks or suspect websites.
- Avoid sending personal or security information in an email.
- Check your bank statements regularly and report any unusual account activity to your bank or card issuer.
- If you think you have been a target of phishing or have visited a phishing site and provided your details contact your bank immediately.

How can I keep my children safe on the Internet?

- Communication is vital. Talk to your child about what they're doing online, what sites they visit, who they're talking to. Ask them to let you know if anyone is saying or doing anything to upset them, sending them anything they shouldn't or asking to meet in real life.
- Agree a clear set of rules with your child on screen time in the home. Talk to your child on when you think it is appropriate and inappropriate to use screens. Agree times when screens are allowed and not allowed in the home.
- Consider keeping all computers and devices in family areas of the home. Depending on the age of your child you may want to set a curfew or ban devices from the bedroom completely.
- Filtering software and parental control settings on your internet browser can limit what your children can access online. Remember that many devices can access the internet and "chat" rooms/pages – computers, laptops, tablets, phones, some game consoles, smart TVs etc.
- Limit access to Wi-Fi. There are devices available to control when children have access to Wi-Fi, these enable parents to specify hours when access is permitted. Alternatively some internet providers offer home and guest Wi-Fi connections. Consider connecting children's devices to the guest network and turning that off after bedtime.
- Set boundaries. Children should be warned never to give out personal information on the internet, especially their full name and contact details. Photos should not be shared with people they don't know in real life.
- Don't leave credit/debit cards lying around or saved in online stores. It is very easy to spend hundreds of euro buying game credits or add ons, and small amounts add up very quickly.

How do I know if someone is a Catfish?

Catfishing is when someone uses false information to create a fake online persona for attention seeking, bullying or romantic deception.

Photos: Overly photo-shopped or retouched images may suggest a catfish, they may also have only one profile photo.

Google their username and email address to see if they appear on other profiles. You can also use https://images.google.com/ to check if the photo appears anywhere else on the internet by dragging the picture into the search box.

Adopt a common sense approach. Many catfish will pretend they are professional models, in these cases, if it seems too good to be true, it probably is.

Accounts with few followers/friends, or followers of just one age/gender may not be genuine. Also accounts with little activity or interactions on their profile.

If I can be of any assistance, on any national or local issue please contact me at mary.mitchelloconnor@oir.ie or call my constituency office on 01-8892199.

My constituency clinics take place the first Friday of every month, by appointment. Please contact my office if you would like to attend.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Mitchell O'Connor, TD

SIMPLE WAYS TO BOOST IMMUNITY

And so, the segue into Autumn has long begun. Some of us (well, me actually) are in hopeless denial that our lovely summer has left us. I donned a pair of boots the other day and had to turn back in the village to put on my sandals. I wasn't ready for the laced in, trussed up restriction on my feet. The better half announced that autumn had sniveled into our lives uninvited. Indeed it had. Nevertheless its here so we might as well acknowledge the relentless passing of one season and the arrival of another.

SLEEP

Up your natural immune response by getting decent sleep, 6 to 8 hours works for most people and children need lots more. Sleep hygiene is important. Turn off screens at least one hour before sleep, never leave your phone, laptop or tablet under your pillow or near your head while you sleep and switch off the wifi. We still don't know what the consequences of the electrical waves and radiation we are surrounded by will have for future generations but why take the chance? Use an old fashioned alarm clock in your bedroom instead and keep the room, dark, aired and cool but not cold.

Don't allow pets sleep with you at night to keep allergies, dust and intrusions to a minimum.

VITAMIN C

Up your doses of vitamin C. Ascorbic acid is fine so the vitamin C from the supermarket will help to deal with a common cold. Take 2,000mg to 3,000mg at first sign of a cold.

More important on a long term basis is to increase the intake of vitamins, minerals and co-factors (compounds that allow vitamins and minerals to work in the body) via food. Lots of rainbow coloured fruit, berries and veg will keep the body healthy, so pop fruit into lunch boxes, make soups, add veg to casseroles and stews and blend into supersmoothies for a quick blast of bioavailable vitamins. You can still have delicious salads as side dishes with hot food.

PROBIOTICS

When the nights start to draw in add a vitamin D spray to your family routine. One or two sprays of Vitamin D under the tongue will give your child a good immune boost. Stores of vitamin D should be fairly high after the fine summer but Northern Europeans are often lacking in this vital immune boosting vitamin so it no harm to top up when the days turn rainy, dull and chilly.

Add a probiotic yogurt to your daily diet. A good live natural yogurt will provide you with the immune boosting properties of beneficial bacterial cultures. Don't buy yogurt with added sugar. Glenillen do a lovely live natural yogurt with added fruit but no added sugar and its widely available. Or try live Greek style yogurts for their smooth creamy texture and add your own fruit and berries.

ECHINACEA

Invest in some Echinacea tincture. Good ones are Irish Botanica Echinacea or Echinaforce and studies show that echinacea may lessen the length of a cold or may limit the number of colds an adult will develop. However you cannot take it year round as that reduces its effectiveness. So take as directed when you feel a dose coming on.

EXERCISE

Finally, get out in the fresh air and exercise. Exercise boosts immunity and makes us feel better. Autumn, winter, spring or summer that's a win win for us year round.

Oh My God, What A Complete Aisling
by Emer McLysaght and Sarah Breen

Well worth a read, this book is hilarious from beginning to end. Twentyeight year old Aishling lives at home with her parents and works in PensionPlus in Dublin.

She goes out every Saturday, drinking Coors light when she is out and Vodka Cokes if they're 'Out' out! And spends two nights a week with her boyfriend John.

But she wants more; she wants a ring on her finger, a hen party worth writing about and she wants out of her parents house!

When not everything goes to plan she winds up with three other sprinters, alone in the big bad city! Life is about to change for this wonderful, strong, funny girl, who just happens to be a complete Aisling!

This book would give Bridget Jones Diaries a run for its money! Its laugh out loud fun and a light read.

Halloween is a time for fun. The recipe for Eyeball Pasta encourages children to eat health food as well as enjoying the fun element. Use your own recipe for bolognaise if you prefer - you may have some ready in the freezer.

Gather blackberries early in October and freeze them to add to the Roasted Apples or buy cultivated berries which are readily available in the shops. It will be popular with the favourite ice cream.

EYEBALL PASTA

Serves 4-6 children
Get everyone in the Halloween mood with this gory but tasty pasta dish

100g cherry tomatoes
150g pack mini mozzarella balls, drained handful basil
400g green tagliatelle
350g jar tomato sauce
4 tbsp fresh pesto

Halve the cherry tomatoes and use a small, sharp knife or a teaspoon to remove the seeds. Cut the mozzarella balls in half. Place one half inside each tomato, trimming the edges if necessary to fit it in. Either cut the smallest circles you can from a basil leaf or finely chop the leaves and scrunch into small circles. Place one at the centre of each mozzarella ball.
Boil the pasta. Meanwhile, heat through the tomato sauce. When the tagliatelle is cooked, drain and stir through the pesto and any remaining basil, chopped finely. Divide between 4-6 serving bowls. Spoon over some tomato sauce, then arrange the stuffed tomato eyeballs on top.

SPICED ROASTED APPLES BLACKBERRIES

Serves 4
This guilt-free pudding tastes wonderful served with low-fat fromage frais, mixed with a little honey.

4 medium Bramley apples, each weighing about 200g/8oz
4 tbsp clear honey
½ tsp ground cinnamon
finely grated zest and juice of 1 large orange 250g blackberries

Preheat the oven to 180C/gas 4/fan 160C.
Core the apples. Make a cut just into the skin around the middle of each apple. Stand the apples in a shallow baking dish large enough to take all four. Mix together the honey, cinnamon and orange zest, put an equal amount into the cavity of each apple, then pour the orange juice into the dish.

Roast the apples for about 40 minutes, spooning the juices over them occasionally. Then, when the apples are almost ready, spoon the blackberries around and over the top of each apple. Return to the oven for 10 minutes or until the juices start to run. Pour the blackberries and juices over the apples to serve.

SCAN PHOTOGRAPHY SERIES - PART 12

Readers Holiday Shots!

Welcome to Part 12 of our photography series. I'm still looking for readers' suggestions for Year 2 of the series so you have ideas questions for future article, email John at pictures@johncoveney.ie or suggest it on the Shankill Photography Group on Facebook. Previous articles are in a PDF at www.johncoveney.ie/scan-photography-series.pdf.

Last month I showed some of my own shots from the summer and this month I'm showcasing some shots from members of the Shankill Photography Group on Facebook.

We start with a classic view of Venice by Cathy Desmond – she got both a gondola and the Rialto Bridge as well as beautiful sun-drenched Mediterranean colours. Cathy takes and edits her images on an iPhone 8 and you can see several more from her series the Shankill Photography Group on Facebook.

Here's a spectacular view of the cliffs on Tory's Island in Co. Donegal – Ireland's most isolated inhabited island. Check out the tiny figures on the distant cliff tops for a sense of scale. It was taken by Carl Collings with a Canon 1000D - an entry level DSLR - showing the quality of images that can be taken nowadays with the level of gear! Carl also uses a polarizing filter to enhance the colours

Here's something completely different from Matthew Hurrell-O'Connor. I love the rich colours and the sense of relaxation and calm that this image conveys. Mathew took this with a Panasonic Lumix Camera. He doesn't say where it is but perhaps it was a quiet pub down the country during his holidays.

Finally, we have a fun shot of Starlings enjoying the sunshine taken by Diarmuid McAree – showing that you don't have to go far to get a good shot. I don't have details of how it was taken but it looks like a close-up shot taken with a phone to get a great composition.

That's it for now – you can see lots more readers shots on Shankill Photography Group and I look forward to seeing more readers shots there.

John Coveney Photography is based in Shankill. John captures high-quality images of People, Places and Wildlife, locally and all over Ireland with his phone and his big cameras. SOUTH SHANKILL RESIDENTS ASSOCIATION

South Shankill Residents' Association Street Parties Summer 2018

On the 29th August Street Parties were held in Cherrington Road, Foxes Grove and Shanganagh Grove. It was a very enjoyable afternoon for both young and old. New residents met existing ones, the weather was kind to us and everyone had a ball. We would like to thank those who made it and brought some lovely goodies both savoury and sweet. Hopefully we can build on this year and have an even bigger event next summer.

Seat dedicated to the memory of the late Malachy Quinn

It is with much satisfaction and appreciation to see a seat located at the corner of Aubrey Park. The seat supplied by the Park's Dept. Dun Laoghaire / Rathdown Co. Co., in early Summer, adds to the many improvements carried out by the very progressive Tidy Towns Group who have made our village, a great place to be very proud of.
The seat is dedicated to the memory of the late Malachy Quinn R.I.P. a much respected local Chemist, who had a business on the opposite side of the road for many years, where he endeared himself to the local community.
A previous seat to his memory was supplied by the S.C.A in 1995, sited near his shop and was removed to facilitate the village renewal scheme in 1997. Our Sincere thanks to Jim Ellis of the Parks Dept. for all his help in restoring and placing the seat at this ideal location.

FINANCE CORNER

ASK the Expert

QUESTION: "I am concerned by articles I have read in the press recently that my child will face a large inheritance tax bill when I die. Will this be the case and is there anything I can do to prevent this from happening?"

Inheritance Tax is again hitting the headlines. According to the Irish Independent*, families are facing huge Inheritance Tax bills as the values of houses increase in Ireland. As highlighted in the analysis, the inheritance of a house in Ireland can give rise to a substantial tax liability. For example, if a property valued at €273,894 is inherited by a grandchild, it gives rise to an Inheritance Tax bill of €79,660. Ask yourself a question. If you and your spouse were to die tomorrow and everything you own was passed to your children, would they be financially better off than they are now? The answer is probably yes, however your children could be faced with a huge tax liability which they are unaware of. The amounts which a child can inherit tax free from parents and grandparents reduced significantly from 2008 and, although having increased slightly over the last few years, have failed to reach the amounts in 2008/2009. In addition to this, the tax rates have also increased.

How Inheritance Tax has changed over the last few years.

	Inheritance Tax in 2009	Inheritance Tax in 2018
Amount a child can inherit tax-free from parent	€434,000	€310,000
Tax Rate applicable on money over the tax-free threshold	25%	33%

An example	Tax liability in 2009	Tax liability in 2018
Value of Parents Estate	€600,000	€600,000
Net estate after threshold (assuming 1 child)	€166,000	€290,000
Tax payable by child	€41,500	€95,700

This represents a huge increase in the tax liability between 2009 and 2018, which a child may struggle to pay and may have to sell assets to meet the liability. There is a solution. By taking out a Section 72 Inheritance Tax policy, that tax can be paid when the child inherits your estate. A Section 72 policy is a Life Insurance policy set up by parents under trust for their children. The proceeds of the policy are exempt from Inheritance Tax because they are used to pay off Inheritance Tax. The effect is that your children inherit your estate without having to pay Inheritance Tax yet the Revenue will receive the tax that was incurred on the passing of your estate.

Talk to a member of the team at Shankill Financial Services today about a Guaranteed Whole of Life policy which may be used for the purposes of Section 72. Special offers on this type of policy are currently available for a limited time only.

SHANKILL & BALLYBRACK COMMUNITY FIRST RESPONDERS

Shankill & Ballybrack Community First Responders are now live!!

This means that if a volunteer is available and on call, they receive a text message from the National Ambulance Service when there is an emergency call in the local area that is related to stroke, chest pain, cardiac arrest or choking. Although the ambulance is already on the way, our trained volunteers live locally and may reach a patient before the ambulance arrives, thus increasing a persons chances of survival in these emergency situations.

The group has also been involved in getting lifesaving defribillators installed in public areas. A second defibrillator was installed by the group in Shankill over the summer outside Brady's of Shankill. This defibrillator was very kindly donated by our friends in Bank of Ireland through the staff "Be at your best" scheme. We would also like to thank John Brady and all the staff at Brady's of Shankill for providing and installing the cabinet for our defibrillator.

This brings a total of 4 publicly accessible defibrillators installed by the group at the following locations:

- Brady's of Shankill
- PM O'Loughlin, The BBQ Centre, Shankill
- The Igo Inn, Ballybrack
- The Lough Inn, Loughlinstown

The National Ambulance Service maintains a register of publicly accessible defibrillators around the country.

The emergency services can then let callers know where the nearest defibrillator is located. If anyone knows of any additional publicly accessible defibrillators located in Shankill, Ballybrack or surrounding areas, please contact shankillcfr@gmail.com and we will add the defibrillator to the register. Please ensure that the owner of the defibrillator has provided permission to add this to the register.

Shankill & Ballybrack CFR will be running a free public awareness night, and details will be advertised on our facebook page @shankillcfr. Please like our facebook page to ensure that you are kept up to date with the latest news and updates from Shankill & Ballybrack CFR.

Cllr. Carrie Smyth

SHANKILL PRIMARY CARE CENTRE

Question: "That the Health Service Executive provide an update on the provision of services in the new Shankill Primary Care Centre and compare with the current services."

Response: Construction work is due to commence shortly on the site of the existing Primary Care Centre. The team of 7 Public Health Nurses who work from this centre are about to be relocated on a temporary basis to a nearby site to be confirmed, to enable them to continue to provide their services to the local community in such a way as to cause minimum disruption. In the short to medium term, the range of services will be exactly the same, as the same staff are moving back into the new Primary Care Centre. This will include assessing and monitoring baby health, supporting new mothers with breastfeeding and other advice, co-ordination of care packages and oversight of clinical care for people who need this at home. These activities will take place in a variety of surroundings including clients' homes, local community venues and clinics in the health centre. In the longer term we anticipate that with the enhanced surroundings, the staff will have greater flexibility to deliver more client-centred care, with more opportunities to run small groups, more accessible clinics meaning fewer domiciliary visits and generally a more modern, safer and cleaner environment. In time, as the HSE invests more in community services (as per the Sláinte Care Strategy) the new building will allow significant developments to take place to services for the Shankill population.

FURTHER UPDATE FROM CARRIE REGARDING HEALTH CENTRE

The development of the new Primary Care Centre in Shankill will require the temporary relocation of staff, clinics and services. To enable staff to continue to provide their services to the local community in such a way as to cause minimum disruption, the following arrangements have been put in place and will commence next week. The Dressing Clinics and Area Medical Officer Clinics will be run from Loughlinstown Health Centre. The breast feeding clinic will be run from Dalkey Health Centre. The Child Developmental Clinics will be held in Leopardstown Primary Care Centre. Home visits will continue as per current arrangements.

The Primary Care Centre is being developed by a private developer and not by the HSE. Therefore, compliance with planning conditions are the developer's responsibility and HSE have no input or responsibility for adherence to conditions. However, I am informed that the developer is engaging with the Planning Authority in relation to all conditions and all relevant documentation has been submitted. This issue might be best raised with the Local Authority.

SAGE is now registered and active as a Sustainable Energy Community. The immediate effect of this is that our starting grant of €20,000 is available to generate an Energy Master Plan for Shankill. This is a technical document which assesses from public sources the energy use in Shankill, its cost, [expected to be in the range of €20.000,000], where it is used and what work could to be done to reduce the spend by, we would hope, about 5% per year.

Currently we are working on a Better Energy Community Grant which will include both private houses and businesses. The advantage of working this way is that the contractors can schedule their work as the different phases can be sequenced effectively thus reducing the costs, since the grant will still be the same in cash terms the proportion covered by the grant will go up.

What did you do while the planet was plundered?

What did you do once you knew?..."

SHANKILL BOWLING CLUB

by Paddy Hughes PRO

Pride of place this month goes to the Mens League team who won the prestigious "Cullen Cup" Div. 3 well ahead of our nearest rivals CYM, Terenure - the runners-up. Our team captured the winners title against Westmanstown away when we took 6 points which was the first time a Shankill team ever got such a large result there. Congratulations to all the team. Well done to team Captain Tom Dillon and his assistant Liam Rigley. The match was hard fought and approaching the 14th, end looked like the overall would go to the opposition but our rinks rallied and finished well to win. Special mention to Christy Shortt, Michael Ryan, and Mick Dixon who 'done the business' with their players. It is the first time we have won this cup and look forward now to the presentation of prizes and receiving the trophy and medals plus promotion to the Senior Div. 2 League -
The Ladies "Roll-up" Competition. Organised by Mary Ryan, team Captain is completed and the winners are as follows:

SHANGANAGH CASTLE LANDS UPDATE:
See below an extract from an email from the Director of Housing at Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown County Council

Dear Councillor,

Further to the discussion at the Area Committee I have spoken to Helen Griffin about matters raised in relation to progress on Shanganagh Castle Lands. I would like to take this opportunity to reassure you that the Housing Department is actively advancing this project. The below update should provide some clarity on its progression.

- The Council applied to the DHPLG for approval in principle for 540 (200 social and 340 affordable) homes in February 2018
- The DHPLG (Department of Housing Planning and Local Government) funds the construction of social housing but does not fund the construction of affordable homes
- The Executive is working with the National Development Finance Agency (NDFA) with regard to funding options
- The funding stream is not holding up progression of the project as funding is only ever provided when the Council is on site
- The Integrated Design Team has been appointed to develop the Masterplan
- The elements of the Masterplan include: EIS reports and screenings, Archaeologist and ecological assessment, site/ground investigations, energy analysis, site modelling and visual assessments.
- The Masterplan must be developed before proceeding to Planning to An Bord Pleanala (requirement for 500 units plus)
- After Masterplan & Planning stages, procurement for detailed design commences, followed by detailed design and tendering for contractor before going on site
- The DHPLG has been notified that the Council will be seeking funding for the Shanganagh Lands under the Serviced Sites Fund
- In order to submit a formal application under the Serviced Sites Fund, projects must be procurement and planning ready so that the funding is used immediately. There will be calls for proposals annually.
- DLR has been informed that matters in relation to the Tripartite Agreement (between DLR Co Co., Woodbrook Golf Club and the owner of the Woodbrook lands) will conclude in the coming weeks

Please note that the time to get on site is dictated by the normal development of a project: Procuring consultants, initial design, costing, statutory planning process, approval of utilities, detailed design, fire safety certificate, preparation of tender documents, tendering process, tender evaluation, tender standstill, award of contract and contractors mobilisation period. The time involved in these stages is of course longer when developing a large site of 540 homes when compared with smaller infill developments. At all times the Housing Department must ensure that good governance is adhered to. Your support for a workshop is welcomed and we will be in touch shortly to facilitate same.

The Housing Department will continue to demonstrate its commitment to this project and other housing projects, both on-site and in the pipeline. This Council is providing 648 homes across all housing options in 2018, of which 250 homes are provided under the Capital programme including construction, acquisition and Part V.

Rathmichael National School

We had a very successful Active Week this year. The children love taking part in all the activities which are timetabled. This year we had cricket, Irish dancing, Pilates, Tag rugby, Sports for all, Stretch and Grow along with morning exercises for everyone. It was a fun way to end our school term and kept us all busy and active which was its main goal.

Various school tours took place to many venues. May and June are good times to go as the weather is better. However, this year we cannot complain about the weather!

Our Sports Day was run by Southside School Sports who have taken over our after school games and help out with PE in school. This ran very smoothly and introduced the Tug of War which was good fun. The whole school take part regardless of ability and I believe the parents enjoy it too.

Good news. We received an honours certificate for Tidy Towns this year. We make it our business to keep the school clean and in good condition. Each class gets involved in this process. Gillian Bourne, as person in charge of Green Schools and the Active Flag, gets everyone to get involved and applies for this annually.

Our 6th Class whom we have just lost as they have moved on to their secondary schools, were given an envelope in Junior Infants by their teacher Ms. Hayley Appelbe. This was to be kept until they were leaving school. They contained pictures poems and memorabilia from their time at the start of Primary School. Ms. Appelbe returned in June to watch them open their envelopes. It was very moving and a lot of fun.

The bed between our Astro pitch and the top playground was weeded, cleared and replanted by 6th class. It is now full of beautiful flowers and thriving. The flowers planted will remain from year to year so hopefully we will continue to see a splash of colour each year. Many thanks to our caretaker Gary for all his help.

5th Class took a day out of school to clean our local beach. This was very good for the children to see all the waste that is needlessly thrown about. Many bags were filled and these were collected by Dunlaoghaire / Rathdown County Council. If everyone were to pick up one piece of waste each day our environment would become a better place.

Saint Joseph's Shankill is the only care home in Ireland that solely cares for people living with dementia. The centre aspires to demonstrate excellence in how people with this very difficult illness are cared for and looked after. It is home to 60 people who live in one of the six lodges with others who are at the same stage of dementia. They are cared for together in a 'homelike' environment where the focus is on people's emotions and making them feel like they really matter, despite living with a diagnosis of dementia.

Junior Infants

Welcome to our new Junior Infants! We hope they will be very happy in Scoil Mhuire.

Fourth Class Tour

Ms. McCarthy's class were lucky enough to be brought on a wonderful tour to The National Stud and The Japanese Gardens in County Kildare. Their teacher is a keen horsewoman and had the children very well prepared for their encounter with the horses in The National Stud.

Sixth Class Graduation

As always we were very sad to say goodbye to Ms. Power's lovely 6th Class children. We wish them every success in their new schools.

GAA Blitz

Ms. McCarthy's 4th Class at Thomastown GAA Club. The boys and girls performed well and won a lot of their games against local schools.

Something Fishy

Ms. Murphy's 5th Class explored the Dodder with members of Inland Waterways Ireland. They walked along the banks of the river with the volunteers where different trees, plants and birds were pointed out to them. Then fish were stunned and taken from the water so the children had an opportunity to examine the fish. The fish were then returned unharmed to the water.

"Feedback!"

Members of the Student Council tasted the revised Carambola menu and gave their verdict.

SHANKILL OLD FOLKS DAYCARE CENTRE

DAYCARE CENTRE OUTING TO LOUGHCREW

During August, when there is a break from the Wednesday Tea Club, an additional outing is organized just for those who attend the Daycare Centre. This year the outing was to Loughcrew in Co Meath, a destination steeped in historical sites in a landscape of lakes, crannogs and cairns. While the original house is now ruined after a fire, features of the 16th century gardens survive, including a yew avenue, an Alice in Wonderland Garden, a formal garden and the birthplace and church of St Oliver Plunkett.

Along with a stroll around some of these delights, everyone sat down to a barbecue lunch which was specially laid on by the catering management at Loughcrew, who couldn't have been more welcoming and helpful, with tables arranged under the pergola and a beautiful back-drop of fields and cattle grazing.

SHORT LOCAL HISTORY TALKS BY JAMES SCANNELL

Also during August, local historian James Scannell gave two very interesting talks at the Daycare Centre, one on a Civil War incident in Shankill in 1922, reminding us of the scary times of the past, with bridges damaged, telegraph systems destroyed, road-blocks set up, and buildings set ablaze. Thankfully, there doesn't seem to have been any loss of life, although toffee and sweets were reported stolen from the Shamrock Toffee Works!

HOME-MADE SOUP FROM LOCAL PRODUCE

Michael Cosgrove, who in his working life was grounds-man at the European Foundation and who now attends the Daycare Centre, brought in a giant courgette from his garden, which the kitchen staff made into delicious tomato (also donated from local growers) and courgette soup for everyone to enjoy for lunch.

Shankill Classical Music Club

The first half of the first session of the 2018-9 season concentrated on baroque and classical era music. The second half was all twentieth century, with a few sneaky glances back to the baroque. Not a romantic-era nineteenth century piece to be heard!

No specific theme, but there were some common features. Sex, for example. Even in the opening piece, Handel's oratorio Solomon, from which we heard the overture and opening chorus. Biblical it may have been, but the unknown librettist in 1748 had no compunction in portraying the spicier side of biblical times, albeit rather discreetly and demurely. By 1911, when opera librettist Hugo von Hofmannsthal co-operated with Richard Strauss on Der Rosenkavalier, Wagner had been and gone, and eroticism in music was no longer a novelty. We heard the famous trio from the finale, where the older woman, the Marschallin, gave her blessing to the union of her former young lover Octavian and the younger Sophie, in ecstatic and voluptuous music.

Similarly soaring and post-Wagnerian was the orchestral intermezzo from the 1906 opera Notre Dame by the Viennese composer Franz Schmidt.

Henry Purcell turned up twice. Firstly, in his own right, in harpsichord music from around 1680: a short suite, and a stand-alone Rondeau. This was the piece that Benjamin Britten used in 1948 as the theme for the orchestral variations that he called The Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra. A suite of pieces by a little-known French baroque composer, Michel Corrette, also got the updating treatment, this time as the raw material for a trio for oboe, clarinet and bassoon by Darius Milhaud, from 1937.

The longest single piece of the evening was the first movement of Beethoven's only violin concerto, heard here in a radical-sounding late 90's recording with Austrian violinst Thomas Zehetmair and a pungent-sounding period instrument orchestra conducted by Frans Bruggen. And classical-era orchestral music also featured in the finale to a Haydn symphony, conducted by Leonard Bernstein.

Shankill Classical Music Club meets at 7.45pm on the first Wednesday of each month (except July and August) in the Old Folks' Association Centre, Lower Road, Shankill. New members and visitors are always welcome.

For more details of the club please see our website http://www.shankillclassical.org or ring John O'Hagan (087-210 9175).

The next meeting will be on Wednesday 3 October. Put the date in your diary now!
